Yaduveer releases study book for competitive exams

Mysuru, May 9- Maintaining that the erstwhile Mysore Maharajas have contributed a lot for education, Royal family member Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar said that the Maharajas established the University of Mysore for the cause of education of all sections of the society of the then Mysore State.

He was speaking after releasing the study book for UGC-NET and K-SET competitive exams brought out by the KSOU Competetive Exams Coaching Centre at the valedictory of the 45-day coaching class at KSOU in Muktagangothri campus here recently.

"The Open University has been imparting education to lakhs of students who want to pursue studies and find jobs. It is happy to note that many who got trained in KSOU coaching centre have been successful in competitive exams," he said adding that there is no doubt that the candidates who underwent training will learn a lot on facing exams.

Stressing on the need for saving the rich tradition of our education system, he said that everyone should understand that this tradition can be saved and sustained only by we Indians. He further said that the current Manasagangothri campus was once a residence of Dewan Kantharaj Urs and Kemparajammanni.

KSOU Registrar Prof. K.L.N. Murthy highlighted the rich legacy left behind by the Mysore rulers. Noting that knowledge cannot be purchased for money by anyone and can only be acquired through education, he called upon the examinees to make best use of what they have learnt during the course of the 45-day coaching class.

Centre Co-ordinator Jainahalli Satyanarayanagowda, Siddesh Honnur, Ganesh Koppal, Bhavitarani and others were present on the occasion.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Should we vote for good men and women on the list, irrespective of party affiliations? And pray they will rise above party affiliations and do what is right ? Pray that they will adhere to the Platonian virtues which he extolled for a politician: courage, moderation, wisdom, and justice. You again shake your head and wonder if this is ever possible in the present day. You tell yourself never become so cynical that you lose hope. You tell yourself be a good citizen first and only then expect good politicians. So, we come back to the puzzle: Who do we vote for?

You reach the conclusion that each of us should vote as per our conscience. Even if that means that your candidate loses his deposit. But vote, you have no right to complain if you do not exercise your right to vote. And in the meantime, consider changing your profession; you too could become a social worker and do your bit to improve society.

Angler reels in great white shark

Florida: Anglers on a charter fishing boat in Florida ended up making the "catch of a lifetime" — a great white shark.

Scott Housel, boat captain and owner of Sudden Strike Offshore Adventures, said he and his group were fishing near Ponce Inlet in Volusia County when there was quite a bite.

Housel said the shark was circling the boat for about 20 minutes before taking the bait. "All of a sudden, he hit one of the lines and I'm not really sure if we caught him or he caught us, but we ended up going for about a two-mile ride chasing him down," Housel said.

"Everybody pretty much had an opportunity to kind of feel the strength," Housel said. "I've been fishing out here since 1989 and this is the seventh great white I've ever seen."

The shark was released after being reeled in, Housel said.

"Awe-inspiring" view of Dubai from space

Dubai: United Arab Emirates (UAE) astronaut Sultan Al Neyadi, who is currently on a six-month space mission to the Internation Space Station (ISS), shared a stunning night-time view of Dubai from space. Taking to Twitter, Al Neyadi posted the image showing Dubai's signature Palm Jumeirah, Jebel Ali and residential areas in Dubai, including the Jumeirah Village Circle.

"Dubai shines almost as bright as the stars up here," the astronaut wrote in the caption of the post.

Sheikh Hamdan bin Mohammed, Crown Prince of Dubai, also shared the mesmerising photo on his Twitter account. He also wrote that the image "paints a picture of the nation's extraordinary achievements both on Earth and beyond".

Rain water harvesting unit: No rebate in water bill

Sir,

This has reference to my letter titled, "No extension of rebate in water bill for adopting rain water harvesting" published in SOM dated Feb.2, 2023. Subsequent to my letter, I lodged my petition in Mayor's online adalat.

After a few days, I received a telephone call from water meter reader and he asked me to submit my application afresh in the matter. As I had obtained acknowledgement on Sept. 22, 2022 from VVWW, I asked the necessity of fresh application and I did not submit again.

Now the fate of my online petition is not known to me and how it has been disposed also not informed. The Mysuru City Corporation's (MCC) online system does not permit me to lodge a petition again.

Now I have received water bill for the month of March 2023 and April 2023 but rebate for the same has not been extended.

I am totally dissatisfied with the attitude of VVWW officials.

Once again on behalf of all the residents who have installed rain water harvesting facility, I am highlighting the grievance.

Rain disrupts normal life in city

Mysuru, May 9 (MK&KS)- Rains lashed the city yesterday at about 7 pm and continued till late night, disrupting normal life.

Following the heavy downpour, rain water flooded low-lying areas while drains and manholes overflowed on to the roads. As a result, motorists, especially two-wheelers, found it difficult to wade through the flooded roads and caused traffic jams in some parts of the city.

Also, a tree branch fell on the road at Hardinge Circle, hampering smooth flow of traffic for some time. Soon, MCC's Abhaya team cleared the fallen tree branch and made way for smooth flow of traffic. Though it rained continuously, there was less thunder and lightning. Even the intensity of wind was less. Hence, no major problems were reported. MCC Control Room staff said that there were no reports of electricity poles crashing down across the city.

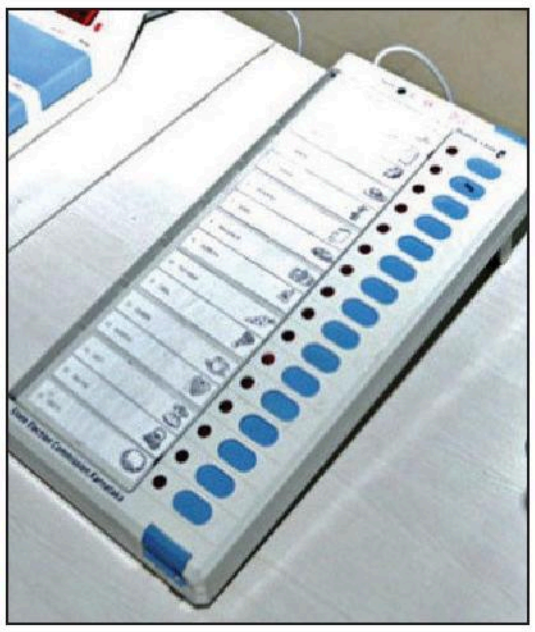
Your finest hour is tomorrow

You choose your Chowkidar, your Destiny

104-year-old Vidwan Sri Krishna Bhat seen voting from home.



Swami Vivekananda, that wandering Hindu Monk had famously said, inspired from Veda, that 'you are the architect of your destiny.' If so, time has come for Karnataka to shape its destiny for the next five years by choosing its rulers. That time is tomorrow. Voting begins from morning 7 to evening 6.

Tomorrow your one vote with one value will decide your political peripeteia for the next five years. Which is why I am caught in a political dilemma since yesterday, last day of canvassing. Could be large number of voters too might be undergoing this sort of trauma which will end tomorrow.

We voters have three major political parties before us to choose from — Congress, BJP and JD(S). The question is what is the criterion to make a choice? The touchstone to test the 'quality' of the representative we choose to represent us as the law-maker and run the government for the next five years? Of course, you can cast your vote to a candidate of your preference belonging to the political party whose political ideology you approve of.

However, there is a catch. What if the party, which has an ideology (like right-centre-left etc.) that you accept but compromises on its much-vaunted ideology and gives ticket to contest the election as its candidate to a person with despicable, even criminal background? A patriotic voter will not like to vote for such a bad character. Sadly the voter, in such a situation is left with Hobson's choice — "I'll give you a choice: take it or leave it", wherein "leaving it" is strongly undesirable.

In such an event, the voter may consider the moral and ideological high of the political party's top leader or leaders (High Command) and cast the vote, hoping the High Command will make amends, even if the unworthy candidate wins. Alternatively, the voter may vote for a good candidate from any other party (contesting from the same Constituency). And if the voter does not want to be caught in this cobweb of a difficult choice or an impossible situation, there is one more option. Thanks to the Election Commission's escape route for the voter. He can go for NOTA. 'The none of the above' candidates' button and press it. Of course, it is difficult to say what kind of effect it will have on the candidates in the fray. It is not clear. However, such a decision by the voter will certainly send a strong message to the political parties to select good persons with merit and clean image to contest the election.

This time the Election Commission has brought about many innovative, voter-friendly changes in the matter of election. It has come up with many schemes and plans to motivate people to realise their responsibility to the nation and the institution of democracy and go to the voting booth without fail. It has cast its net wide to include young student voters, labour forces in the factories, white collar employees and farmers. We will know the beneficial effect of this labour of the Election Commission and also of the NGOs only when we know the percentage of voting on the day of the reckoning — May 13, the counting day.

The Election Commission has also created a congenial atmosphere for the citizen to exercise his vote by increasing the number of voting booths, by choosing the convenient, easily accessible location to set up the voting centres so that the voter need not travel a long distance and by ensuring proper security. Interestingly, the buildings of voting booths, some selected ones, are not only kept hygienically clean but are even decorated to look attractive with fresh paint and decorations like a festive occasion. Well, after all, are we not celebrating the festival called Democracy? Amen.

Further, this year the Election Commission has shown greater mercy and concern for the old and the disabled who cannot go to the polling booth. For them, voting arrangements were made at their houses, homes or hospitals or wherever they are with the ballot boxes and the record books to get their votes. After all, votes are invaluable, like oxygen for people, to keep our democracy live and vibrant. Hence, no eligible voter shall be excluded in this inclusive democracy.

In a democracy freedom of an individual is the most important rights of all — freedom of life, speech, liberty and property. Thus he has a right not to vote also. At present there is no law that can punish him for not voting or to deny him any legal rights or government benefits for not exercising his vote. May be, for this reason there is never 100 percent or near 100 percent voting. One of the other reason for the low percentage in voting is the holiday declared on the election day. Many jolly-good fellows simply leave their homes for a holiday in some tourist place or go visiting friends and relatives not bothering to exercise their sacred duty of voting. This kind of conduct exhibits a person's lack of patriotism and concern for democracy. It also tantamounts to abusing the personal freedom given to us under the Constitution. Such citizens must remember that should they get a bad or corrupt government, they alone are responsible. Please do not complain or grumble. You will have forfeited that right by not exercising your franchise? Remember Swami Vivekananda: 'You are the architect of your destiny.'

Already the Election Officers have visited the old and specially-abled voters and got their votes. An example is the picture above where 104-year-old voter Vidwan Sri Krishna Bhat, the father of the Seer of Sri Pejawar Mutt, Udupi, is seen casting his vote in his house for the 2023 Karnataka Assembly election.

And finally for those of our readers who know Kannada, here is a persuasive jingle to remind you to vote, that came to me per WhatsApp:

Mysuru, May 9 (DM)- The District Administration has made vehicle arrangements to ferry poll officials and supporting staff to their respective polling booths today.

A total of 481 KSRTC buses, 84 maxicabs and 29 jeeps have been arranged to ferry 2,905 Presiding Officers, 3,250 Assistant Polling Officers and 6,352 other poll officials to as many as 2,905 polling booths in 11 Constituencies the district.

These vehicles will ferry the Polling Officers and Micro Observers to their respective polling booths after mustering took place this morning. As heavy rains are predicted during the polls, all polling staff have been asked to bring a raincoat or umbrellas along with them.

The vehicles left from their assigned places in the city and from all other taluk headquarters in the district. The departure destinations in the district were as follows:

Mysuru City: Maharaja's College Centenary Hall, Maharani's College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Scouts and Guides Ground in Baden Powell School campus located close to the DC Office and JSS College on Ooty Road.

District: Pushpa Educational Institutions at Periyapatna, Government First Grade College at K.R. Nagar, St. Joseph's School in Hunsur town, St. Mary's English Medium High School at H.D. Kote, Government PU College for Boys in Nanjangud, Government First Grade College at Deveerammanahalli in Nanjangud taluk and Vidyodaya Educational Institutions in T. Narasipur.

481 KSRTC buses for election duty: Public put to hardship

Mysuru, May 9 (RK&BCT)- The deployment of 481 KSRTC buses for election duty has caused inconvenience to the public. Commuters have been waiting for hours at bus stops for buses to arrive, despite assurances from KSRTC officials that public transport would not be affected.

The scarcity of buses heading to places like Hassan, Madikeri, K.R. Nagar and Periyapatna has left rural Mysuru residents depending on KSRTC transportation stranded. In response to the situation, KSRTC has provided additional city buses for passengers travelling to destinations such as Bengaluru, Malavalli and Mandya. According to KSRTC officials, buses were deployed as per the requirement.

Preliminary checks today, mock polling at 6 am tomorrow

Mysuru, May 9 (RK&BCT)- After the polling officers reach their respective polling booths, they will have to take the machines out from their boxes today itself and connect the EVMs — Ballot Units and Control Units — and VVPAT machines.

They will carry out preliminary checks and report malfunctions, if any, to the presiding officer who will alert the engineers who have arrived from Electronics Corporation of India Limited. Any anomalies will have to be rectified today itself to ensure that there is no confusion tomorrow, the polling day.

Before the start of the actual poll tomorrow at 7 am, a mock poll must be conducted at 6 am with at least 50 voters in the presence of candidates or their agents. Various checks will be conducted by polling agents, observers and security forces.

Mobile phone, camera not allowed

Mysuru, May 9- The voters are not permitted to carry either mobile phone or camera to Polling Booth on the day of election tomorrow.

According to Section 128 of Representation of People Act, 1951 and Section 39 of The Conduct of Election Rules, capturing photographs of voting is a violation of secrecy of voting. Even match boxes are not allowed inside the Polling Booth, according to the District Electoral Officer.

Checklists and numbering

Ready-made checklists were given to polling officers where each item (machines and stationery) was handed over and marked. While handing over the machines, serial numbers were marked and officers were given guidance on how to operate. A separate section was arranged at all the mustering centres where master trainers trained the polling officers and cleared their doubts.

481 KSRTC buses, 84 maxicabs and 29 jeeps were parked in front of mustering centres and after obtaining the materials, officers boarded their respective vehicles. Mysuru, May 9 (BS)- According to the District Electoral Officer and Deputy Commissioner Dr. K. V. Rajendra, candidates in the election can open booths at a minimum distance of 200 metres from polling stations with two chairs, one table and a 3x4 ½ft. banner with permission from the Election Officer and local authority.

However, campaigning is prohibited and candidates are only allowed to issue voter slips containing the part number, roll number and name of the voter, without any symbols or candidate names.

Candidates can depute their agent

As per directions of Election Commission, Micro Observers will be deputed to select Polling Booths on the day of election, along with making arrangements for web casting and deployment of Central Armed Police Force (CAPF) personnel.

Leaders visit Chamundeshwari Hill Temple on poll eve

Mysuru, May 9 (RK&BS)- With a few hours left for Assembly election tomorrow (May 10), several leaders irrespective of ruling BJP and main Opposition party Congress went on a praying spree, visiting Chamundi Hill Temple in Mysuru this morning.

Opposition Leader in Legislative Assembly Siddharamaiah, KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar and former Minister and Congress leader K.J. George visited Goddess Chamundeshwari Temple at Chamundi Hill.

Amid the controversy of Siddharamaiah writing a letter to AICC President M. Mallikarjun Kharge complaining against Shivakumar, that turned out be a fake, both the leaders coming together generated enough buzz on the eve of voting.

The leaders, who paid obeisance to the presiding deity, also sought blessings of the Goddess for the party's prospects.

They also broke nine idugaayis (coconut) and held their hands aloft together outside the temple, in a message of unity to their detractors.

Siddharamaiah was staying at a hotel in the city, where he was joined by George. Shivakumar, who came later, was closeted with Siddharamaiah for 10 minutes, before the three leaders drove to Chamundi Hill in one car.

Congress MLC from Mandya Dinesh Gooligowda (former Officer on Special Duty to BJP Mysuru District Incharge Minister S.T. Somashekar) was also present during their temple visit.

Prior to them, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha also visited the temple and paid his obeisance to Goddess Chamundeshwari.

11 strong rooms set up for post-demustering process

WORD OF THE DAY

Chivalry

Pronunciation: SHIV-ul-ree.
Meaning: Chivalry refers to the qualities of the ideal knight, such as honour, generosity and courtesy—in other words, an honourable and polite way of behaving toward others. It is used especially to refer to such behaviour as expressed by men toward women.
Origin: Chivalry is dead, they say. The statement is indisputably true in at least one sense: the word chivalry first referred to medieval knights, as in "the king was accompanied by his chivalry," and we're quite certain those knights are all long gone. But the word's meaning has shifted since the 14th century, with other meanings joining the first over the years. Today, chivalry typically refers to an honourable and polite way of behaving, especially by men toward women. And when people say "chivalry is dead" they're usually bemoaning either a perceived lack of good manners among those they encounter generally, or a dearth of men holding doors for appreciative women. The word came to English by way of French, and is ultimately from the Late Latin word caballārius, meaning "horseback rider, groom," ancestor too of another term for a daring medieval gentleman-at-arms: cavalier. In a twist, the adjective form of cavalier is often used to describe someone who is overly nonchalant about important matters—not exactly chivalrous.

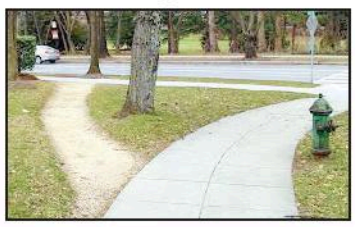
THE ODD WORD

Caliology

Study of bird's nests.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Cutting corners



Meaning: The phrase 'Cutting corners' is defined when someone tries to do something as cheaply or as quickly as possible, often sacrificing quality.
Origin: This expression is often used by hunters. For example: The South Canterbury Hunt's Etiquette, Safety & Commonsense instructs riders: Follow the line that the hounds are taking, never 'cut corners' unless well behind where the hounds are working.
Example: "It is certainly not a sensible to cut corners on your children's education."
